Professor Ross was a very good instructor. The homework assignments were short, but still required a good understanding of the material to finish. The exams were fair in that they covered all the material. Having 1 page of notes was good too. Sometimes he goes a little fast in lectures, but he answers all questions.

I like the way Dr. Ross teach his class. He has good methods of laying out the materials ~~for his class~~ and very thoroughly on explaining the materials for his class.

He need to find simple ways + terms to explain some other difficult techniques in Calculus. But overall he is a brilliant teacher.

This was a very interesting class, and the instructor was very helpful. Ross was well-prepared for lecture and he did lots of examples on the blackboard so that the material discussed was understood by everyone in class. He explained the material very well, and quizzes were of big help for the exams. Homeworks he gave out throughout the semester were fair enough, because it helped with the exams. I would wish to have him as my instructor for Math 243.

Ross knows his material and prepares the lectures very well. His notes and his explanations are thorough and detailed. Also includes many examples which are very helpful. Learning is easier in this class from previous years because he speaks clearly and asks us if we understand. The homework was doable and allowed us reasonable time to do it. Very good teacher.

Nice professor, helpful.

Appropriate amount of HWs.

Quizzes and exams are challenging.

His handwriting is a little bit hard to read.

Prof. Ross is a great teacher who is very knowledgeable in the subject. He is easy to talk to and is always helpful when we ask questions. It was a very difficult class but with his study guides and crib sheets, it helped tremendously on exams. Thank you Prof. Ross.

His explanations of concepts were generally very clear and easy to understand. Sometimes when using overheads rather than writing on the chalkboard, he would go too fast to follow, so slowing down would have been helpful.

He is very approachable and willing to help students in any way possible and his grading curve is generous. I would definitely take another course from this professor.

The website and links were very good and helpful. Lectures were pretty drawn out (dry) and could be more problem-specific vs. doing proofs. Having students work out problems together is suggested.

- Takes the time to ~~the~~ thoroughly explain problems & theories, sometimes might take too much time in explanation. Fewer proofs might be helpful.
- Fair grader for exams & quizzes. Justifiable curves
- Can grades be posted online?

Was an OK instructor. Some of the topics were very confusing. Was well organized for the lectures. I wish we could've done more practice problems in class instead of talking about theories.

Not a very good teacher. Assigned the really hard problems for homework. Didn't really give good examples in class that would prepare us for the homework. He assumes we know and understand, but we don't.
