I was very impressed by Dr. Ross' coverage of the material, sometimes covering several different proofs for the same theorem to give us ~~the~~ different perspectives.

I felt Dr. Ross tried really hard to show us how to think and perform like mathematicians.

I really liked this class and feel that I have developed a great respect for analysis that I may not have had if not been for Dr. Ross.

The only criticism I have is that homework was often returned a little late for my liking. However I should hardly complain since Dr. Ross was always excessively accommodating of accepting late homework.

W/o doubt; Prof Ross is a very organized, super-experienced, effective & very knowledgeable instructor in this course.

He is an expert; mastering every section & pt in this course

I've really enjoyed in his wonderful (outstanding) leading all the semester from beginning to end.

Δ I do believe that I've learned much, much more than I expect from him.

Thanks a lot Δ Hope a wonderful Happy Holiday !!

Gave very organized and well planned lectures; Was helpful and approachable in office hours. ~~I like~~

I really enjoyed the class and learned quite a bit. I might have liked some more homework problems in addition to the ones we had, which were easier but involved important concepts and ideas/tricks.

Please comment below on special strengths and weaknesses of the instructor and the instructor's conduct of the course. Constructive criticism is solicited.

Strengths - clear expository style good flow of ideas and theorems thorough proofs willingness to answer questions lovely handwriting (lovely compared to other near-illegible scrawl seen in some math professors)

Weaknesses - tendency to copy the lecture directly from pre-written notes
• poor time management - often doesn't wrap up lecture until 5-10 minutes after class ends
• is very particular about small details, doesn't emphasize big concepts / important ideas enough

The content was appropriate. The order was a little confusing and the pace was a little fast at times.

Lectures are well organized & structured to ensure basic concepts are explained in a way that can be understood (at least after a "digesting" period). Instructor was approachable with questions on homework & concepts.

The course is excellent. So many stuff ~~were~~ covered in one semester. The blackboard notes are comprehensive and the instruction is clear. I did learn a lot from this course and expect to take the second course ^{MATH 632} next semester.

Good course, I found the jumping around (chapter to chapter) a bit difficult. I understand that perhaps it was necessary due to the weaknesses of our text. I went back and reread it in the book's order and it made more sense but that is likely a function of it being a second reading more than anything else.
